

Pella Community Art Center

February 2024

No classes on: Mon 2/5

Each month we have a different media available for the students to try. These featured media help the students learn a new skill or just give a different ideas to work with. Students are not required to participate in the spotlighted media, but they are encouraged to at least try it. Of course, stations which are always open are clay, collage, painting, wood, and sewing.

Since February is a wintery and cold month and the month of “love” we decided our Media needed to be something warm and bright! Using all sorts of bright and colorful paper and students will create Valentine Cards, flowers, and books. Students can give them away to brighten someone's day or keep for themselves to brighten their own day!!!

Work Study Students and Volunteers

Work study and volunteer students from Central College and both local High Schools really enhance the Art Center experience for all students involved. Without these helpers our instructors wouldn’t be able to do what we do. It really is a joy to work with your kids and the work study students and volunteers. Each one brings something special to the whole atmosphere of the Art Center.

If you think you might be interested in volunteering at the Art Center, please contact the Community Services Office at 628-4571, or talk to one of our instructors.
